THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK: "Beautiful young people are accidents of nature, but beautiful old people are works of art."— Eleanor Roosevelt

SPRING HAS SPRUNG

Spring whispers softly through the trees,
A gentle warmth upon the breeze.

Buds awaken, green and bright,
Chasing away the winter's night.

Birds return with songs anew,
Painting skies in vibrant hue.

Fields of flowers sway and gleam,
Nature stirs from its frozen dream.

The sun ascends with golden light,
Turning frost to morning bright.

Every step on grass so fair,
Breathes the promise of fresh air.

Spring invites the heart to sing,
A season where new life takes wing.

Hope and joy in every ray,
Guiding us to brighter days.
